Our Philosophy

At Alliance Counseling, we are committed to offering highly specialized and personally responsive services to all our patients and their families. Optimal health and well-being requires an integration of mind, body and spirit. Our behavioral health services are Solution Focused and Result Oriented. Our private practice group grew out of a desire to provide the highest quality of health services to our patients. As clinicians, we understand our patient's need for a more individualized, personal approach to behavioral health services.

When you contact our clinic, you will reach one of our clinicians directly. The clinician will inquire about your specific needs and concerns and quickly put you in contact with the therapist who has expertise in that area and will be a good match for you in establishing a positive therapeutic relationship. Careful attention is paid to coordinating our health services with a patient's medical health care provider, if requested or necessary. We welcome the opportunity to provide behavioral health services to assist individuals in gaining the optimal level of physical, emotional, and spiritual well-being.
